

A world living with Covid: Milwaukee vs Eau Claire

Milwaukee and Eau Claire are two completely different places,

We see this in many ways but how covid is being handled in both is a drastic change.

In Eau Claire I see people without masks, going to bars like their isn't a pandemic going on.

People aren't taking covid as seriously here in EC as they are in the community I love in Milwaukee.

I don't know if they are treating it as a joke in EC because not many people live here, but it frightens me because this pandemic may not stop here for a long time.

Back at home times have changed.

The community I love is still mostly shut down, whether that be by choice or because they went out of business due to the pandemic.

The pandemic has impacted this country like no other I have ever seen.

Milwaukee a desolate in my eyes now with not much going on, with no buzz around the city as it used to be.

If we just live life as they told us things could go back to normal as they have in Australia where 0 local cases are and people are lining the streets of the city and going back to normal life.

Milwaukee vs Eau Claire two places I have lived,

Two drastically different economies and lifestyles.

Covid has changed life in both,

And life won't be the same as long as it is still here.
