COACH
W. L. ZORN
U. W. E. C.
1928 - 68

Although Willis "Bill" Zorn gained most of his fame by making his mark in the spot-lighted world of sports, he probably made an equal mark in the lives of thousands of students he counseled from his position as Dean of Men at UW-Eau Claire. Bill Zorn characterized his position with the administration as that of "providing leadership and guidance to help students realize their responsibilities." And, it is from this position that Zorn became known to succeeding classes of students as "Mr. Enthusiasm."

In the summer of 1928, Willis Zorn head coach at Waite High School, Toledo, Ohio received a letter from his famous coach, Amos Stagg. "I've just received word from my old friend Harvey Schofield, President of the Eau Claire Teachers' College up in Eau Claire, Wisconsin, and he's looking for a good coach with lots of enthusiasm! I knew you were from Northern Wisconsin and I'm 100 per cent sure you're just what they're looking for, so I recommended you for the job. Now, get in touch with them, because this is an excellent chance to build manhood."

So, with Stagg's help Willis Zorn packed his bags and headed once again for his native land of Wisconsin. But not before he made a nich in sports in Ohio. Bill's record speaks for himself back in 1925, 26, 27 where he compiled a scoring record of 990-90 points in the three years of football as Waite's coach.

In basketball his team had an undefeated season and was invited to Philadelphia's Seaboard Tournament. Also one year he took a basketball team to the National High School Tournament at Chicago, where ironically Eau Claire Senior High School was representing the Wisconsin state honors.

As Bill was heading to Wisconsin to take the reins as all around coach at Eau Claire Normal, other events were happening on the national scene. Herbert Hoover in accepting the nomination as the Republican candidate for president of the United States said the following; "We in America today are nearer to the final triumph over poverty than ever before in the history of our land. The poorhouse is vanishing from among us. We have not yet reached that goal. But, given a chance to go forward with the policies of the last eight years, we shall soon, with the help of God, be in sight of the day when poverty will be banished from this nation." Little did we know that the worst depression in history was just around the corner.

When Zorn arrived upon the campus he found the football squad was already in training and working hard toward a successful season. Mainly because of the efforts of Ade Olson who was to be his assistant coach that year. When the first call was issued, before his arrival, eleven lettermen from last years team, along with twenty-three others had turned out. But though large in numbers, there was not much weight for a football team. This was to be the greatest handicap throughout his first season.

However, Zorn and Olson had a team ready for the season, with fighting ability and excellent teamwork. Captain Clark played end, halfbacks Peterson, Gunn, Raymond carried the ball and as the old Stagg tradition carried on, Zorn had two excellent fullbacks in Henneman and Wilbur.

Taking over a new team wasn't quite like running the University of Chicago Maroons, and the Eau Claire team dropped all four conference games. To add injury to the occasion Bill's old alumni, Stevens Point won the conference. Some of the bright spots were the play of Milton Larson at tackle, Pinky McGrouary at guard, along with Scott and Sands at end.

Bill also had the job of shaping up the basketball team. His first game as coach also was on the losing side, losing to Hibbing Junior College in a very slow game 15-13. Bill found that basketball in the North Country was quite stiff and managed to win just one game. That being the game against Concordia College. The game was rough at times, with center Smith of Eau Claire going out on fouls. But the play of Larson, Scott Sands and Eggleston and the rest of the squad of Coach Zorn was in the victory column. The first and one of many to come was on the plus side for Bill. One victory and seven loses is a hard way to start a brilliant career but times were tough all over in this day and age.

"You know my first contact with Eau Claire was back in 1919, I think it was at the old riding park, Bill reminisced. I was playing for Point Normal and Eau Claire beat us 7-0. I have a clipping from the Stevens Point paper which said 'Zorn went over the goal line but was pushed back' of course this was before the days of Clell Buzzell and Ron Buckli, so I didn't get a chance to read what the Eau Claire Leader had to say about the game."

"In the early days we had problems recruiting, as our school was the youngest in the system. We had few facilities, and a small gym, even for those days. This was located in Schofield Hall and Schofield was our only building then. The football games were played at the old Driving Park which was in the third ward at approximately the East end of what is now Lincoln Avenue. In 1927, the team moved to the area South of Schofield Hall. This was used on a temporary basis with the field running North and South, Bill remembered.

At an athletic banquet in March of 1928, President Schofield stated that a new field would be constructed for the 1928 season at a cost of $8,000. However, the field did not materialize, that fall, when Bill took over the team from Coach E. C. Gerber.

1929 saw the birth of the new field which was to be used for football games until 1937 and after that for a practice football field. Built with an East-West axis the field was the center of football activity for nine full seasons under the Zorn regime.

"Most of the schools in the conference had many buildings on their campuses and we also housed the kindergarten thru the 8th grade and held the college classes in the one building known as Schofield Hall," Bill said. "Many of the athletes I contacted were from high school's larger than Eau Claire Teachers and to try to find help was almost impossible."

"We contacted the area businessmen for part time jobs, but they were scarce at that particular time. We were also confronted with some stories about closing the college at Eau Claire, Bill said earnestly.

The whole field of education was hard hit. At first, schools across the country tried to get along by shortening the school year, by buying fewer new textbooks, and by letting teachers go. Chicago cut its teaching rolls by 1,000, and those who still had jobs were unpaid for a year or more. At one time during the depression, five out of six of the schools in Alabama were closed. As the birth rate dropped, elementary-schools enrollment dropped too, but high-school enrollment went up. Many young people who would otherwise have left school for a job decided they might as well stay in school since there was no work. Colleges suffered as the sources of large gifts disappeared and as the income on their investments declined. Fewer students could afford college, even at the low tuition and room and board rates of those days-$1,000 would cover a year's expenses at an Ivy League college.

On the other hand, no academically qualified student had any difficulty getting into college.

Bill Zorn said proudly, "The citizens of Eau Claire really rose to the occasion and Eau Claire remained a school that never closed its doors. It grew in the following forty years under four great leaders: Harvey Schofield, William Davies, Leonard Haas, and Richard Hibbard. We also became one of the most respected Normal School, Teachers College, State College and University in the Mid-West. Our enrollment grew until it became the second largest in the system and also the most beautiful campus."

But this is looking a bit to far in to the future. The world and our country were also having big problems not unlike those of today. At that time fewer than 1,500,000 automobiles were manufactured compared to 4,000,000 a couple years before. The Ford tri-motor was the leading airplane. It could carry twelve passengers at a speed of 125 miles per hour.

The fad of the year was technocracy, a movement led by an eccentric engineer, Howard Scott. He and his followers first came to public notice while they were conducting an "energy survey". They wanted to substitute management by scientists, technicians and engineers, who would make the factories more productive and also make sure everyone had a job. In late 1932 and early 1933, technocracy was the most talked about and written about topic of the day. The very fact that people would make so much of such a scheme was an indication of the increasingly desperate search for a way out of the depression.

Bill's struggle was almost like the countries--1929's football team 0-4 basketball 1-7, 1930's football with the help of Larson, Sieg, Gunn, Jense, Derouin, Shea, Miley they managed a winning season 3-1-1. The basketball team ended with a 4-4 season with the help of the same fellows. Coach Zorn's Tornados football boys came back with a 3-3-1 season with the highlight being a win over the Fort Snelling soldiers 48-0.

The basketball squad fell on real hard times losing all nine games they played, finishing last in the conference.

1931-32 teams both in football and basketball really took it on the chin with combined records of 1-16. The only bright spot was the football teams 14-0 win over their traditional enemy Stout Institute. The next year the football team held a 4-3 record and showed some bright football playing in men like Dan Dieg, Gordon Hanson, Delos Walker, Markle Haight, Harry Schuning, Clemeth Sherman, Verland Anding, Wayne Clarke. The basketball team once again hit the bottom with a 9-1 mark. With Art Nelson being the only graduating member of the team, the Blue and Gold looked eagerly forward to the next season.

1-4-2 football season for the Zornmen brought Bill calling for his old coach Stagg. The basketball season wasn't much better as they played 13 games and won 6, two were with their old rivals Stout. One of the best all-around athletes in school was Jimmy Hendrickson who later won World Wide Fame in Ski-Jumping.

The best record dating back to 1924 when Eau Claire posted a 5-2 record, was in the making during the 1934 football season. The squad won five of eight games, gaining the nickname, "Golden Tornados."

Indicating the increasing popularity of athletic participation at Eau Claire State, eighty candidates reported for the opening basketball practice. "This was more like the kind of participation I liked," said Bill. The squad of fifteen picked from this group went on to defeat Stout twice and River Falls for the first time since 1925. The game, which saw Eau Claire overcome a 17-point lead and win 47-46, was the only loss for the Falcons on their home court during the season.

"Stagg had always felt that athletics were an extra curricular activity that you participated in for the love of the sport," Zorn indicated at this point. "You went to college for the academic reasons. This was first and foremost at all times. Our faculty was dedicated to such a program. I recall one such faculty member and we warned our athletes against wearing his award sweater in class for fear of reprisals."

"We lost some good players because they did not put out in classes, Bill said thoughtfully. But I have always felt that college educational institutions were for academics and not for athletes who attended only for their athletic prowess like that, that is happening in many of the colleges today."

The Bill Zorn of today doesn't look much different then the Willis Zorn of 1935. He stood apart from his boys then because he was bigger and stronger. His light, wavy hair of then is still the same today, parted down the middle. When you look at the many momentos of Bill's past sports life you can't help thinking how much he looked like Spencer Tracy. He has the same stature of a Rockne or a "Whizzer" White. It's obvious his spartan ideals handed down from the old master have carried on through the years.

The only tangible rewards were sweaters and letters that Bill could give out to his players, but the word spread that Eau Claire State meant excellence in sports and scholastics. Mainly because of Zorn and his ideals. "Through out the country, Stagg stood for those principals and his administration was behind him, I guess the same happened at Eau Claire, Bill stated proudly. Our teams during my tenure of 40 years have had their ups and downs but I have never had any problems with the outstanding administrators of the college. Oh, I have had some letters from people who could only read the score board. I have even adorned some of the trees on the campus."

"I have recruited many an athlete but always with the idea that we were after students who could attain degrees and do college work," said Bill forcefully. "I recall that twice Senator Gaylord Nelson was on our campus when running for office and we had a reception for him. Going thru the line I said I was Zorn. He said, 'Bill I know you, I stayed at your house when I graduated from high school.' I had invited Harold Niellson and Gaylord Nelson over as potential students and athletes and they stayed at my home a couple of days. Niellson stayed and graduated, Nelson went West to college and became a Democrat and later Senator. I still have the yard light that I used to use when he came to town, that flashed on and off 'NELSON SLEPT HERE', laughed Bill.

The Zornmen dynasty was on the move now! Football season in 1935 brought out fifty-five candidates, the largest number to date. The season was successful in terms of defeating Stout 23-0 and tying River Falls 14-14. The overall record posted was 2-3-2. The best conference record since 1927 featured the 1936 basketball season. The 4-4 conference record was high-lighted by a closing 33-30 victory over Superior.

Eau Claire State's First Gymnasium--Schofield Hall

Old Eau Claire High School Gymnasium

The jinx which the mighty Falcons of River Falls had long since fastened on Eau Claire was broken, as the Blue and Gold swept past River Falls 27-0. This was only the second victory over the Falcons, the other coming in 1921 by the score of 21-13. Eau Claire finished in second place in the Northern Conference race with a 3-2-2 record. Basketball followed suit by defeating River Falls twice, attaining an 11-4 record for the best mark in the history of Eau Claire Teachers. Those were the years of Howard "Chick" Kolstad, Wally Lehman and all-conference player Trig Pederson.

"One time when we made a trip down to Iowa, we played Western Union College, said Bill. The Blue and Gold played the preliminary game to the college girls' game. We use to have a black cat "Tuffy" for a mascot, and Wally Lehman was his trainer and before each game he would walk the cat in front of the visitors bench to hex them. It worked pretty good. But one night the cat got loose and missed curfew or found a girl friend. At least he was gone for a few days. Would you believe it, that Decorah Iowa coach found him and mailed him back to us in Eau Claire."

Bill remembered one time a couple of his players missed curfew down at Oshkosh and he sent them back on the bus to Eau Claire.

"They turned out just like our darn cat, only I bought them a couple of tickets and sent them home and they didn't play at St. Norberts' the next night either," Bill added.

Howard Kolstad, who played for Bill back in the late thirties, became a very successful coach himself. He has ran an outstanding record over at West De Pere, Wisconsin with the St. Norbert football team. "Chic" reasonably stated in an interview with the press that Bill Zorn should be given much of credit for his success as a coach. His record is something like a 70 percent win mark. "Zorn believed in hard work and a tough principles," Kolstad said. Kolstad has the reputation that has been passed down to Zorn through Stagg, that of speaking softly and carrying a big stick too. And when Kolstad, as in Zorn's case, gets angry the worst you'll hear is "Good Lord."

A mediocre football record of 2-4-1 was established in Eau Claire's first season under the lights at Carson Park. But the 1937-38 basketball team claimed the first undisputed Northern Conference Championship in the history of the school. Wally Lehman was one of the big reasons this team dominated the scene. They won 15 out of 18 games.

While the football squad could only come up with two victories in seven games, the basketball season was highlighted by a share of the conference title and the school's first visit to the National Inter-collegiate Basketball Tournament at Kansas City, Missouri. Six-two conference and 13-5 over all records were indicative of the high caliber of this team. Victories over Southern Division Champion Oshkosh and Minnesota Collegiate Conference champs, St. Mary's added a degree of prestige to the Blugold's accomplishments.

"I recalled once when we played in Iowa our manager forgot to pack our uniforms, Bill said with a grin on his face. So we wore the Iowa teams other jerseys. I guess we won or we would have changed managers the next trip out of town."

The 1940 football season neglected to bring any victories to the Eau Claire campus. The highlights were scoreless ties with Stevens Point and Stout. Also the basketball team fell to the bottom of the ladder too, winning 6 of 18 games during the winter months, and dropped to the bottom of the conference. It should be noted that eight of the games were dropped by a margin of five points or less, three by one point.

Although Coach Zorn finally received some help by turning the football team over to James Barnes for the 1941 season the team still continued its losing ways. No victories and two ties.

The 1941-42 basketball squad surprised everyone with a winning season. Despite a young, inexperienced team, they chalked up a 9-8 record. This included a pair of victories over rival River Falls.

Willis "Bill" Zorn returned to the head of the football team once again, but for the third year in a row Eau Claire was deprived of a win on the gridiron. The squad was small and lacking in reserves, many men had joined the armed forces.

The basketball team finished third in the Northern Division and compiled a 9-8 record overall. Tom Lehman was captain that year.

The season of 1943 saw the one year demise of football at Eau Claire. Not enough men were available to field a team. With many new "service teams" on the schedule, the hardcourt squad won 9 and lost 6 with Vic Johnson captaining the team and Tom Lehman gained all-conference honors.

1944-45 found revival of football under Clifford Fagan. The squad lost two games to the University of Wisconsin 'B' team and two games to Bemidji. The basketball squad continued its winning ways with a 10-8 count. The school's second invitation to the Kansas City Tournament marked another milestone in Bill Zorn's coaching career. The Teachers College lost to Central College of Fayette, Missouri 36-54.

"You talk about boys not packing their things when they get ready to leave town on a basketball trip, well several times in spite of final notices to pack equipment and make sure you've got every thing....We've had guys dressed for the game with no shoes! Zorn remarked. So we'd have to find some second hand shoes from somewhere."

"I remember once, I won't mention his name because he's a banker in Eau Claire now. I substituted this young fellow in to the game," laughed Bill. "I guess it was when we first had those flashy sweat pants, well he got so excited about getting into the game that he slipped off his sweat pants quickly. But what he didn't realize was that he took off his basketball pants with them! The girls use to blush in those days--but the men cheered until he discovered his situation."

"In a LaCrosse game one of our pantless boys had a chance for a free throw later in the game," Bill said. "Out of the stillness of the moment someone in the crowd yelled 'Have you got your pants on' But our young freshman with the poise of a veteran sank both free throws in spite of the roar "

1945-46 team under Zorn provided the fans with a year to remember. The squad posted a perfect 8-0 conference record, outscoring opponents by an average of 55-41. As a reward for this success, they were invited to the N.A.I.A. Tournament at Kansas City for the third time.

Following the championship squad of 1946 the 1947 team provided the fans with a 13-6 season on the basketball court.

The basketball team 1947-48 finished second in the conference by winning 12 of 21 games during another first rate season. A memorable evening saw the Blugolds defeat River Falls and Nate DeLong for the first time in two years. Some of the players were Gene Musolf, Dick Emanuel, Dennis Helixon, Tom Lehman, Ade Washburn, and Bill Babington.

1948-49 basketball season had in addition to some of the greats of the season before, like Jim Bos, George Billmeyer, Bill Proctor and Warren Hoff. The team managed an even 6-6 conference mark, but could not stay even as they dropped eleven contests and won ten throughout the entire season.

1949-50 brought the hoopsters below par of their recent success. They could only gain seven wins in twenty-two games. The most humiliating loss was perhaps the 110-82 beating administered by River Falls.

The Zornmen of 1950-51 won seventeen of twenty-three games in a season which saw a new record of 104 points in one game and another invitation to the N.A.I.A. Tournament in Kansas City. This was the year of such greats as Jim Bos, George Billmeyer, Gene Musolf, Carson Proctor, Stan Dufrane, Dick Emanuel, Ade Washburn, Virgil Lord, Cornell Torgerson, Lyle Bulmer and Don Cronkrite. The Blugold's were beaten at K.C. by Pepperdine College of California 53 to 86.

Basketball of 1952 found its glorious moments when a determined Eau Claire team upset highly rated La Crosse 71-60 and in all played 20 games losing only 8.

"Our traveling was always made in our cars," Bill mentioned. "We had many interesting experiences, especially in the winter in the cold and snow of our country. For some reason all the boys would clamor to ride with me because of my driving ability and the peep holes I would have on my window, when the heater wouldn't heat. Also the snow drifts we didn't miss. I remember one year coming from Stevens Point an officer stopped me and politely asked me if I knew the speed limit. I guess I said I did because he didn't give me a citation. Later that year coming home with the Paul Bunyon Trophy from Bemidji we passed through Cohasset, Minnesota (A speed trap.) An officer pulled out from behind a filling station, turned on his red light and siren, so I stopped to talk to him. He told me I would have to follow him to the justice of the peace office. We went to some basement, guess there were two candles and an oil lamp burning. An old man about 85 or more said 'You were driving 18 miles an hour in a 12-mile zone.' 'How do you plead ' he sounded about like Johnny Carson doing Maudy Fricket. So I asked him what would happen if I pleaded NOT GUILTY. He said I would have to come back in a week. The boys wanted to get home for tests so I donated about $25.00 We stopped at the Androy Hotel in Superior and were eating when my assistant coach Jerry Person also came in to eat. His chin was resting on his belt. He went on to tell us he was pulled in and paid $38.00 Boy that was some trip "

"We went to Platteville next and some of those friendly officers pulled me over to the side of the road and said something about going through a town etc., and there wasn't even a town within miles," shouted Bill vehemently. "Our second car caught up with us about this time. One of those many great Johnson boys I've had, I think this one was "Jet" rolled his window down and yelled, 'Par for the course Coach ' I don't think he played that night "

1952-53 school year will be remembered for the dedication of a beautiful new fieldhouse, rather than for the number of games won or lost. December 6th saw the dedication celebrated with a 91-49 victory over the University of Chicago. In all, the basketball squad posted a 9-12 record. But this was the beginning of the big years again because such names as Roger Hanson were making the scene.

The 1953-54 season began the fruitful era of four straight winning seasons on the gridiron and eight such seasons on the basketball court. The Blugolds were entering another golden era. Basketball made a strong bid for conference honors, finishing second with a 9-3 mark. Some more great names were carved on the walls of Eau Claire State. Jim Bollinger, "Jet Johnson, Darrell Fitch, Carl Glocke, Virgil Lord, Tom Webster...

A heralded basketball team showed more wins and fewer losses than any previous team in the history of the school, in 1955. Only a 84-82 loss to Beloit prevented the squad from playing in the N.A.I.A. tournament in Kansas City. This would have been especially meaningful to Coach Zorn for he was President of the N.A.I.A. at that time. The only other loss of the season was suffered at the hands of arch-rival River Falls by the score of 92-74. The Blugolds answered this with a vengeance, rolling over the Falcons 106-82 for the conference title.

The 1955-56 school year could be termed a very successful athletic year. The football squad marched to a 5-2 conference mark and the basketball team shared the conference championship with a 10-2 record. They participated in the N.A.I.A. tournament for the fifth time. Rivals River Falls and Stout were defeated in all football and basketball games played to make the year even more successful in the eyes of Eau Claire fans. Roger Hanson gained National honors as N.A.I.A. All-American.

The basketball squad finished with a creditable 8-4 conference record and a 13-8 overall count in 1956-57, Leon Etten and Jim Bollinger gained All-conference honors.

Bill Zorn's 1957-58 basketball team moved through another winning season with a 13-8 mark and 1958 marked the year Willis Zorn was elected to the N.A.I.A. Hall of Fame.

1958-59 season found the Blugolds with a season total of four overtime victories in twelve wins. Eau Claire suffered four conference and five non-conference defeats in twenty-one games. Jon Wensel received all-conference honors.

The 1959-60 basketball contingent finished in a tie for second in the conference but missed by a vote the chance to attend the K.C. tournament. An over all 12-8 mark was achieved.

The basketball squad of 1960-61 played an even season, winning ten and losing ten. This was the thirty-second basketball squad to play for head coach Bill Zorn at Eau Claire State.

"40 years on one campus is a long time, longer than most coaches endure, Bill reminisced. But my old coach Stagg did it. He refused to stop at 70-years-old and went on until he was 99 and was coach of the year in 19 . I think one of the cutest stories of Coach Stagg was when he was mowing his lawn at age 104, just before they sent him to the rest home. 'He mowed his lawn with a hand mower and he would mow it to death,' said his wife Stella Stagg.

'One day a neighbor advised him that kids had been playing on it daily, ripping up the turf. "You'll never raise grass that way," he said. "Sir," answered Stagg, "I'm not raising grass--I'm raising boys."

1961-62 season saw the Blugolds drop to a low mark of 4 wins and 17 losses.

6-14 was all Bill's boys could muster for the 1962-63 season, which seen players like John Schaaf and Bob Blizzard in Zorn's 35th year as the head coach.

1963-64 was another of those 4-17 seasons. But one bright spot was the game against La Crosse, who at the time was riding high on a 11-0 record. The Zornmen came through with a 79-74 win.

The season began as it ended, in 1964-65, with a dreary note. As the Zornites held on to the last rung of the State University Conference. They did bomb Platteville 108-84 in the process of their 5-16 season. 65-66 found them tied for seventh place with an 8-12 record. Even though they held such stars as Stan and Larry Johnson.

The team came on strong in the last six games of the season with six straight wins and the record improved to the tone of 11-8.

1967-68 The Zornmen finished with a 7-13 record, but they did manage a win in the Holiday Classic Tournament dumping Winona 87-64 and Chicago State 102-99.

After 40 years of coaching, Bill Zorn retired with 411 wins out of 756 games. Bill was listed in the Converse 1967 basketball year-book as one of the winningest coaches. In addition Bill Zorn was elected to the Dr. James A. Naismith Hall of Fame. Another record held by Bill at the time of his retirement was the fact that he was listed 16th in the nation for the number of wins.

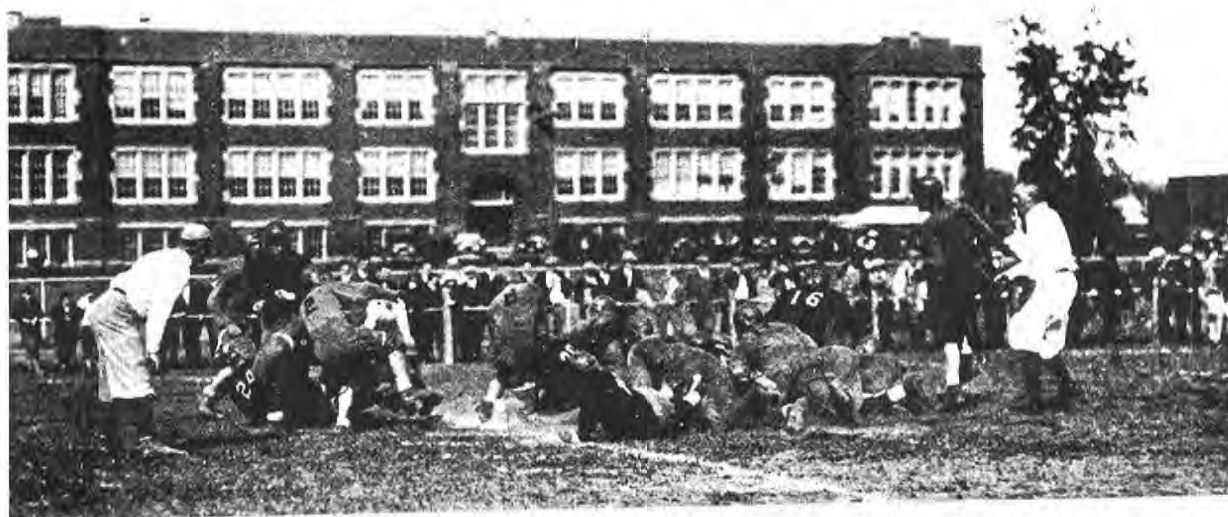

In May of 1968 the good people of Eau Claire held an appreciation banquet for their coach. Over 500 people attended the festivities. Toastmaster Cliff Fagan said, "Like Will Rogers, Bill Zorn is a man who's never met a man he didn't like."

Louis L. Phillips said, "Zorn is a record that we all can be proud of here in Eau Claire."

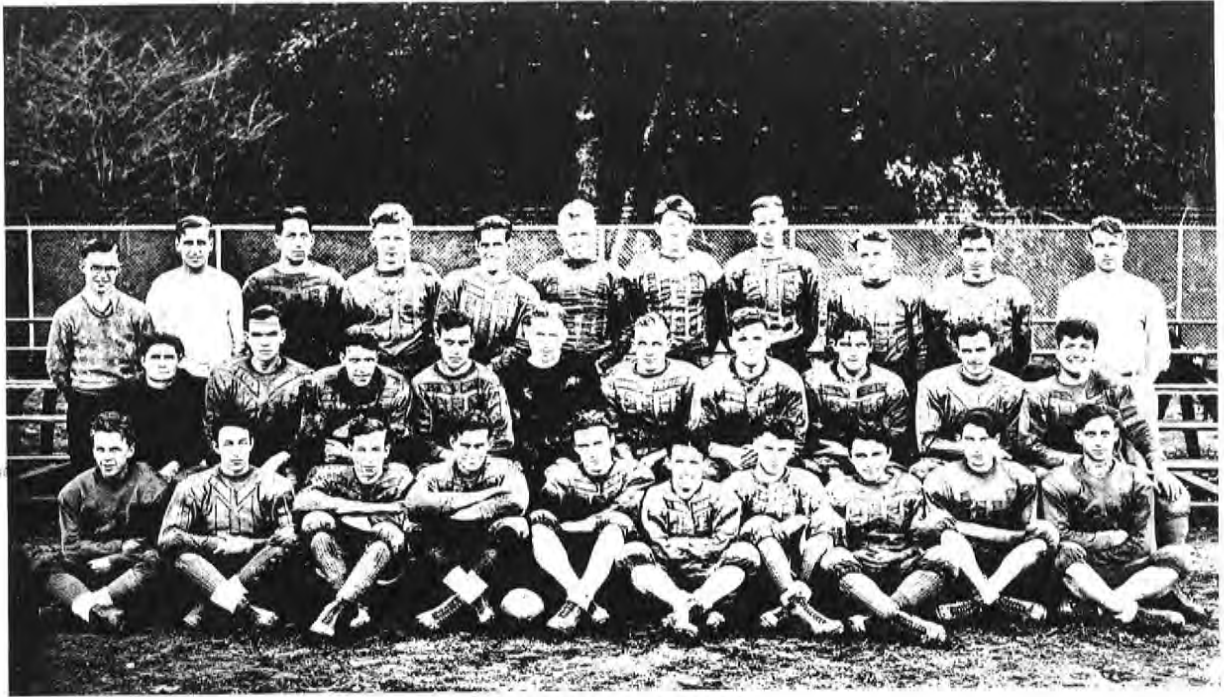

"Just think of the number of lives Bill Zorn touched in 40 years at the University," said Chick Kolstad. "He counceled and aided more kids on this campus than you can shake a stick at."

Bill himself says, "What a host of memories and what a lot of winners of the E Award in athletics are still giving 110 per cent in their chosen fields in Eau Claire and throughout the country. I'm proud of every one of them and it was great having them on my team. My greatest pleasure is to see them filled with that old enthusiasm which is so necessary for success. It's just great!"

Bill likes to add one of his favorite reasons for leaving and we know its just in jest. "Of course the real story of my graduation after 40 years in 1968 was that after being called 'Sweet Old Bill' over those years, I finally hear some one using just the initials- - I guess I better give up, who wouldn't"
