Hello, I am COVID-19, responsible for millions of being sick

Covid-19 has been after me for 9 months now and you continue to haunt me

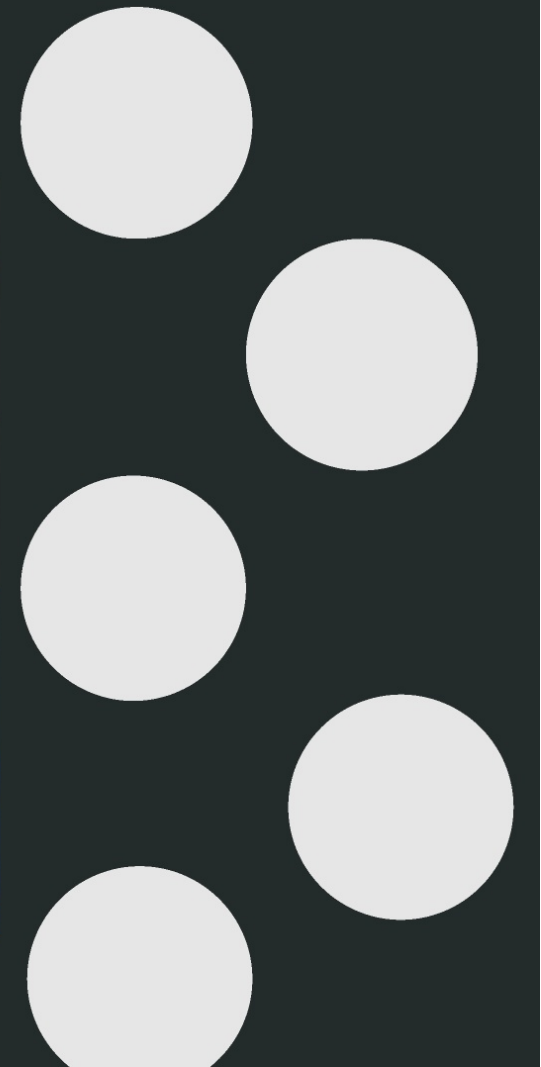

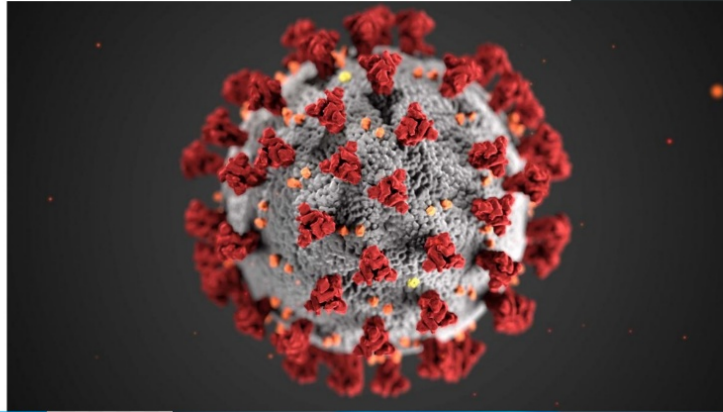

How have I affected you recently?

You have affected the way I live on a daily basis, watching out for how many people I am around, and making sure I am Covid negative each week

You have kept me from seeing my family and friends on various occasions due to those that have been exposed to you

How do you keep safe from all the harm I have caused?

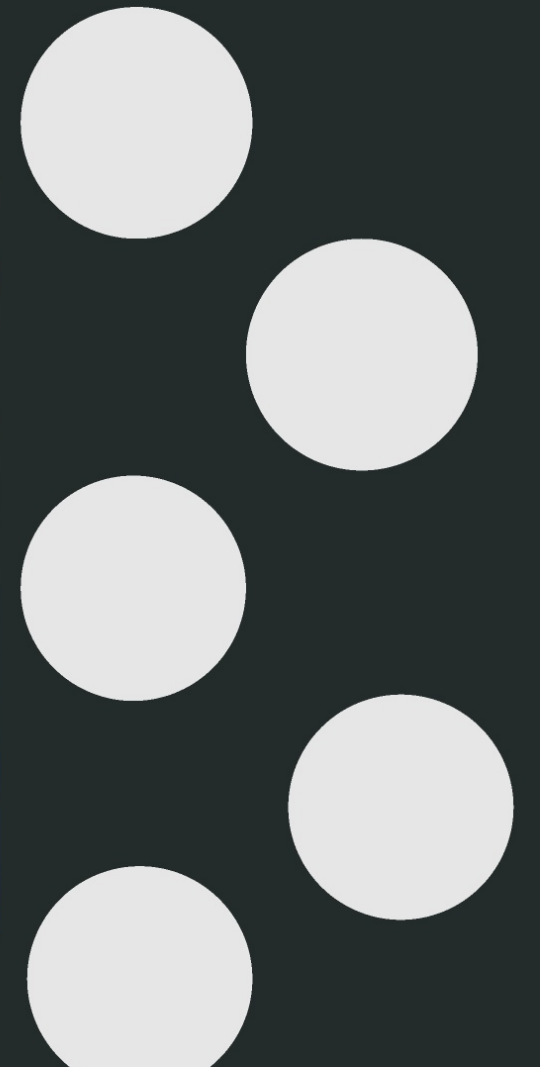

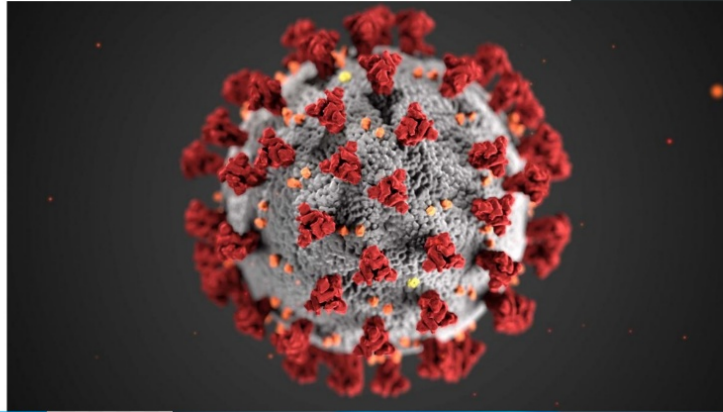

Everyday when I leave the house I wear a mask to keep myself safe from the virus

I make sure to keep a safe distance from people so I am not exposed to the disease

How have I affected where you live and your daily tasks?

I play college hockey here at UWEC, due to the outbreak we are unable to have a season this year

Multiple guys on our team have been affected and have caused us to cancel practices and make it very difficult to live a normal college life

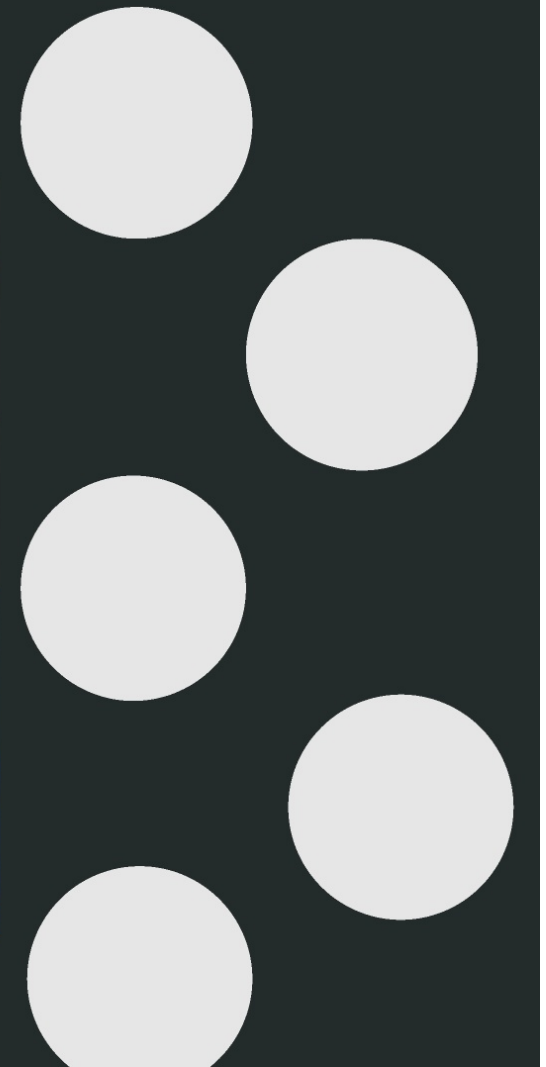

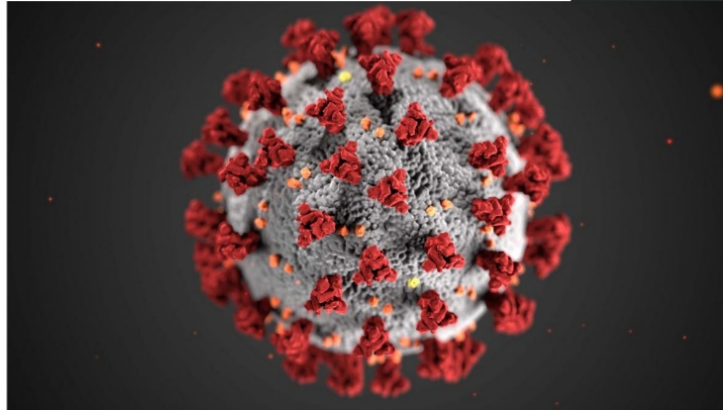

I am sorry to hear that, have there been any positive takeaways?

Actually yes, I have learned a lot about cleanliness and taking care of myself unlike I have in the past

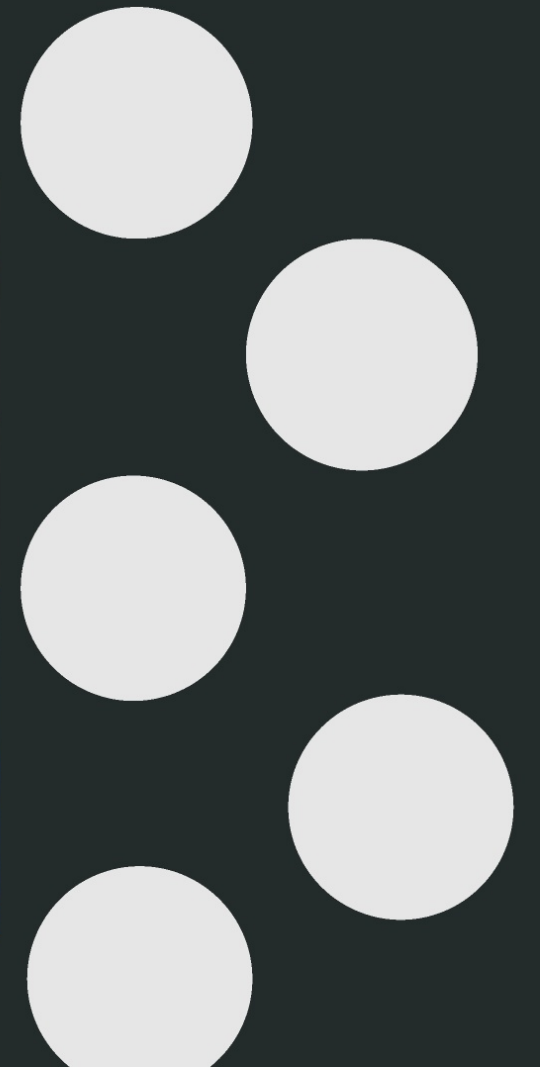

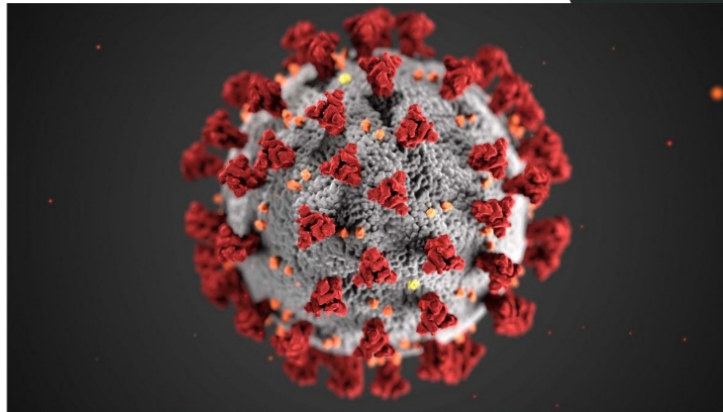

That is good to hear, are things looking better for the future?

As of right now COVID still has a huge effect on the public, and hopefully there will be a vaccine coming out in the next month that will help many of those in need

Hopefully you as well as your friends and family can get back on to your normal lives at some point!

I will continue to lookout for myself as well as my peers, together we hope to get past this devastating pandemic

COVID has been challenging, but as I learn more and more about it I feel strongly that we can push past it! Better days to come!

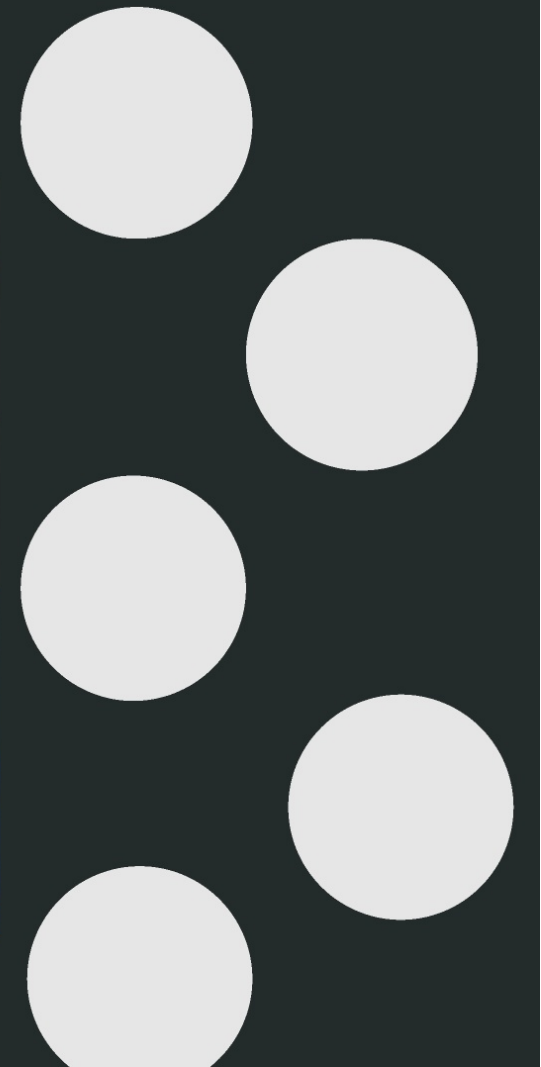

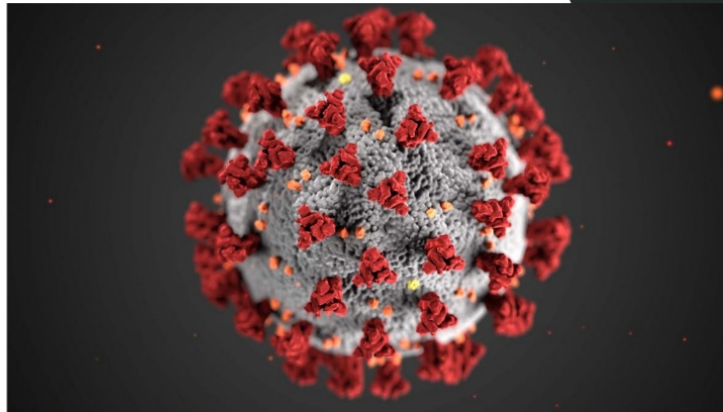

Good luck to you! I am sure you will and the rest of the world will defeat me and thrive once again!
